ELA 9 and 10

- All teachers in ELA 9 and 10 have received training in using the Pre-AP frameworks
- Meeting program requirements and making it our own (Learning Checkpoints and Performance Tasks)
- As of January 17, 167 students are participating in the embedded honors program in ELA 9
- About 25 percent of participants in the Embedded Honors, ELA 9 are students of color
274 students recently surveyed in grade 9

- The fiction and nonfiction (novels, plays, articles) texts that are read in class are engaging and challenge me to think.
  - 89.4% either agreed/mostly agreed/or completely agreed (34.3%/44.2%/10.9%)

- Activities in the class allow me to work with my classmates to analyze difficult passages.
  - 90.2% either agreed/mostly agreed/or completely agreed (22.3%/47.8%/20.1%)
The skills on the PreAP checkpoints are similar to the skills we work on in class.

- 84.9% either agreed/mostly agreed/or completely agreed (40.1%/33.9%/10.9%)

I am comfortable with PreAP academic vocabulary, such as rhetorical devices, literary devices, pivotal words and phrases and telling details.

- 90.9% either agreed/mostly agreed/or completely agreed (34.7%/38%/18.2%)

I would like to take an AP/IB/College level course when I am in 11th or 12th grade

- 79.6% either agreed/mostly agreed/or completely agreed (30.7%/19.3%/29.6%)
ELA Embedded Honors--Feedback from Students

- “Although ELA recitation is difficult at times, I do feel that it is preparing me for future English classes and allowing me to get a view on what AP English classes may look like. We are analyzing complex writing and writing specific and detailed responses about these pieces of writing.”

- “ELA recitation creates a way for others to expand and build the skills we learn from the regular English classes because it gives us the time and space we need to grow and take risks without the worry of hurting grades which will allow us to add more skills to the list.”
“I like that we are not just allowing equal opportunity for upper level classes, but by providing the scaffolding and frameworks, through Pre-AP, to help all students excel in these higher level AP/IB/Rutgers courses.”
